2. Preamble

Visiting an old age home offers a meaningful opportunity to connect with elderly residents, bringing joy and companionship to those who may otherwise feel isolated. Such visits bridge generational gaps, allowing younger individuals to learn from the experiences and wisdom of the elderly while fostering empathy, kindness, and respect. For the elderly, these interactions provide a much-needed sense of connection, warmth, and belonging. Additionally, the visit encourages Students to reflect on the values of compassion and gratitude, promoting a deeper understanding of the importance of community care and social responsibility.

3. About the Old Age Home

The old age home houses 14 senior citizens aged 70 and above. As part of an initiative by the Social Awareness Club, we contributed sarees, dhotis, and towels, provided funding for a meal, and distributed fruits and biscuits. Students and faculty shared a memorable time with the elderly residents, creating meaningful connections and bringing joy to their day.
